OUTLINES.

At Asheville yesterday before United States Circuit Judge Pritchard, the Southern Railway and the Atlantic Coast Line in a petition asking to be allowed to withdraw from their position in the litigation with the State concernng the rate law, according to the truce patched up wih Governor Glenn, reiterated the justice of their contentions and declared that they had been clubbed ino the peace agreement with the State by reason of Governor Glenn's threat to convene the Legislature and enact more stringent laws; Judge Pritchard in allowing the petition reviewed his position in the matter and contended that hs court has jurisdiction, notwithstanding what had been done in the matter. ——Governor Glenn yesterday addressed a long letter to the people of the State, reviewing the railway rate litigation in North Carolina and asking the judges and solicitors to abstain from further prosecutions until the two cases now pending are finally determined in the highest courts of the land. ——Hon. Richmond Pearson, of Asheville, the newly appointed minister to Greece, wil go to Athens in October. ——Because her wealthy Chicago lover proved false to her, a New York actress committed suicide at Colorado Springs, Col., yesterday. ——The jury in the Haywood case at Boise, Idaho, returned a verdict of not guilty on Sunday and the defendant was discharged by the court; arrangements have been made for bond for Moyer, the second of the defendants, and the trial of Pettibone has been agreed on tentatively for October 1st; Haywood was showered with congratulations yesterday from all parts of the country, the verdict being regarded as a great victory for the Western Federation of Miners. ——New York markets: Money on call, firmer, 2 1-4 to 3 per cent., ruling rate 2 1-2, offered at 3; spot cotton dull 12.90; flour more active chiefly for Winter; wheat steady, No. 2 red 96 5-8 elevator; corn, steady, No. 2, 61 1-2 elevator and 60 1-2 f. o. b. afloat; oats steady, mixed, 49 1-2; turpentine steady; rosin quiet.

The straddler in politics is a man who can hit the ceiling harder than any other man in this day and generation.

"Let the Sun follow you," says our shining Newbern contemporary. Follow nothing so long as we can find a shady nook. Look at your thermometer.

News from Central America says "the republic of Nicaragua and Salvador are on the brink of warr." The brink of war seems to be always occupied by the Central American bantamms.

"Still there is much to be thankful for," says the Newbern Sun. You bet President Finley feels that way every time he gazes on the photograph of Judge Pritchard, which he now wears as a watch charm.

The only active participants in the new Japanese war are the New York World and The Herald—The latter on the jingo and the former on the antijingo line. And they seem determined to fight it out if it takes all Summer.

Probably that compromise of the injunction situation saved United States Judge Pritchard from further complicating his record by enjoining the assembling of the North Carolina General Assembly had the Governor called it unto extraordinary session.

The Washington administration wouldn't like to leave the impression that it would hit a woman, but Lieut. Col. Chas. G. Ayres is making a noise like a man who had to take the lick intended for Mrs. Ayres because she "sassed" those West Point snobs.

The South & Western Railroad which is to let Wilmington in to the roal fields, now has 45 miles of road completed in North Carolina. So it appears from the returns made by the railroad of its property for taxation. The returns made on Saturday to the North Carolina Corporation Commission show that the 45 miles of road is listed at a valuation of $622,214.

A Phildelphian wants to apply to a court for an injunction restraining his wife from "nagging at him every time he comes in the house." The Philadelphian is simply trying to get a rest but if he will read up on injunction experences in North Carolina, he will observe that they do not give anybody much of a chance to rest.

A few days since the Star intimated that some of the railroad presidents might be indicted for selling high-priced tickets by proxy. Sure enough, three days afterwards, President Finley was in the toils. But he told Judge Pritchard that the salary paid a laborer on the public roads was "confiscatory" and the Judge Habeas snatched him.

GOVERNOR'S LETTER

Addresses Communication to People of State on the Railway Rate Question.

NO MORE PROSECUTIONS

Explains Status of Agreement Between Parties Interested and Asks Withdrawal of Suits—L. & N. and C. & N. Notified.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 29.—Governor Glenn is preparing, if necessary, to take action against the Carolina & Northwestern and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Companies, with a view to compelling them to put into effect the 2 1-4 cent passenger rate just as the Southern and Atlantic Coast Line have agreed to do. The L. & N. has a line from Murphy to the Georgia line, and the C. & N. W. from Chester, S. C., to Lenoir, and procured injunctions from Judge Pritchard, just as the Southern and Coast Line did. Governor Glenn today sent the following telegram to the head officials of each of these roads: "The Southern and Coast Line Railroads have agreed that the rate of 2 1-4 cents, fixed by the Legislature, go into effect August 8. Will your road also comply with the law and adopt the rate on that day? Please answer to the end that if you refuse to recognize the law I may take such action as to me seems right."

The Governor handed to the members of the press this morning the following address to the public:

"The General Assembly, at its last session passed a law regulating passenger rates, the same to go into effect July 27th, 1907.

"Before that day the Southern and the Atlantic Coast Line through the Circuit Court of the United States, enjoined the Corporation Commission and the Attorney General from putting the fixed rates into effect.

"Not believing that a Circuit Judge in an equity suit by enjoining the Corporation Commisson and Attorney General could present a self-acting law from going into effect, I commenced to prepare a letter to the judges and an address to the people when on July 8th, the Hon. B. F. Long, one of the ablest and most conscientious judges in the State, of his own motion, hastened action by boldly and ably charging the grand jury of Wake county that it was its duty to immediately indict the railroads for violating the rate law. At once I assured Judge Long of my hearty approval of his righteous stand and my intention to assist him in upholding the law. My letter was forwarded to the other judges and indictments were made in Wake and other counties. Many penalty suits were also commenced against the railroads by private individuals. The railroads then applied to the Circuit Courts to enjoin all private persons against bringing penalty suits and to take the persons arrested and convicted in the State courts from the officers of that court by writ of habeas corpus to the Federal Court. Believing this was not warranted by the constitution and laws I resisted in every legal way, directed the State's attorneys to appeal from such action, and requested the State courts to continue to endorse the law. This brought up a direct conflict between the State and the Federal courts, a matter that I regretted, but could not, under oath, avoid.

At this crisis Assistant Attorney General Sanford, representing the Department of Justice at Washington, came to see me to try and adjust all differences. I told him that under the constitution I could not and would not attempt to annul a State law, but if the railroads would obey the State law and let it immediately go into effect, all minor details could be adjusted. At his request I put my ultimatum in writing and published it. Nothing was to be done unless the railroads immediately recognized the law.

After some debate and arrangements of minor details, the railroads accepted the State's proposition ,the rate law to become effective August 8 (a few days being given to change tickets and publish new rate schedules), certain cases to be carried to the Supreme Court for final determination, and in the meantime the railroads to request the Circuit Judge to commerce no contempt proceedings and I ask the judges and solicitors to commence no more indictments and nol pros those on their dockets except the two from which appeals were taken and to request the people not to commence any penalty suits. In compliance with my agreement, the law being now fully recognized and obeyed by the railroads, I do most earnestly request all judges to stop all new indictments and to nol prose those on the dockets, and also beg the people to bring no more penalty suits, to the end that peace and harmony shall again prevail between the railroads and the people. You cannot injure the railroads without injuring the State. When they obey the law they are entitled to protection. The law is now in full force, and no one should therefore desire to violate the agreement made between the State and the Railroads, and I could dently ask and expect that said agreement be carried out and be strictly complied with. The law is supreme. Let all obey it.

"R. B. GLENN,
"Governor."

The Governor telegraphed all the judges and solicitors in the State requesting that they entertain no further prosecutions regarding the rate act in their courts and nol pros those already instituted.

Governor Glenn has received from the Brooklyn Democratic Club, E. H. Eastman, chairman, an invitation to deliver an address August 26th. It reads: "People north are deeply interested in the question of the encroachment of the Federal courts on the antanomy of the States. The Brooklyn Democratic Club heartily tenders a dinner at Brighton Beach Hotel August 26, in order to afford you an opportunity for laying your views on the subject before the country. The dinners of this club are always widely reported in the press. The last one we gave William Jennings Bryan was the guest of honor. There were ten thousand people present."

The Governor says he has not fully decided, but thinks he will in all probability, accept the invitation the honor of which he appreciates very hghly.

MAYOR'S COURT YESTERDAY.

Boy Charged With Stoning Car the Star Defendant—Other Cases.

James Herring, a colored youth, charged with throwing stones into the Consolidated Company's freight car at the A. C. L. Station Sunday afternoon, was the star defendant in the police court yesterday. He was arrested by Conductor Ed. Allen, on board the car, and was turned over to the police. William Wright, who works on the car and who drew the fire of the boy with the stone, was the chief witness for the State. The boy had no excuse and was sent to the roads for 30 days.

Henderson Hayes made his usual appearance and was charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was given 30 days. C. C. Morse, white, charged with being disorderly, was fined $5 and costs. John Depinner, as his name was entered on the docket, was given 30 days for being drunk and disorderly. He was arrested by Officer Wood Saturday afternoon in the northern part of the city. Ingram Howe, drunk and disorderly, was fined $5 and costs. David E. Jones, plain drunk, was taxed with the cost under extenuating circumstances.

Funeral of Mrs. Burbank.

CHURCH DEDICATION

Pretty and Impressive Ceremony Sunday Morning and Evening at Carolina Place.

BY THE CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST

Exercises Largely Attended and a Perfect Success in Every Way. History of the Congregation and Its Growth in City.

The handsome new church edifice completed for the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of this city, at a cost of $5,000, this being one of the first erected by a Christian Science congregation in the State, was dedicated with pretty and impressive ceremony at Carolina Place, Seventeenth and Market streets, Sunday morning and evening. Although built for temporary use, the church is one of the prettiest and most convenient houses of worship in the city and it was thronged both morning and evening Sunday with members of the congregation and the public at large who had gathered to witness the exercises The dedication was in every way a perfect success and marks a new era in the life of the denomination in Wilmington.

The church is of the Colonial style of architecture and with its neat entrance, large arched windows and wings on either side to be occupied as reading room and practitioners' office, the exterior view is a pleasing one in every respect. Inside the arched window effect is also prominent, the interior tinted with green with gilt texts on the walls and a very pretty execution of scroll work, this being the handicraft of the same artist who made the mural decorations for the beautiful annex or extension to the mother church in Boston. The electric chandeliers are among the prettiest ever seen in this city and the lighting of the church is superb. Sunday for the dedicatory services an arrangement of stately palms in different portions of the main auditorium added much to the general effect of the pretty new place.

The order of the exercises for the dedication Sunday consisted of a solo, "Feed My Sheep," words by Rev. Mary Baker Eddy; scriptural selection; prayer; reading of telegrams, cablegrams and church history; lesson sermon, consisting of citations from Bible and correlative passages from the Christian Science text book; a solo "Love Watches Over All," and the benediction. The services were listened to most attentively by the large overflow audience which was present at both services.

The dedication of the new church attracted large numbers of visitors to the city among whom were Mrs. Sue Harper Mims, C. S. D., of Atlanta; Miss Mary Way, of Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. E. L. Hall, of Portsmouth, Va.; Miss Janie Myrover, of Fayetteville; Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacRae, of Fayetteville; Mr. George Smith, of Asheville; Mrs. Robinson and the Misses Robinson, of Savannah, Ga.

To the general public the reading of the church history was perhaps among the most interesting features of the ceremony. It was prepared and read by a member of the congregation and is as follows:

"Because of my association with the work of Christian Science, during its early days in this city, I have been requested by the members of this church to give a brief history of its inception, and growth up to this time—the day of the dedication of its church edifice.

"This account, given in date and statistics is quite simple. In 1887 a resident of Wilmington was healed under Christian Science treatment, and received class instruction on this subject from Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, of New York City. The patient and student, thus healed, came home convinced that Christian Science is synonomous with primitive Christianity, and that its students, in the degree to which they live the Christ-life and think the Christ-thought, can do the Christ-works. The following Sunday the Christian Science service was read aloud for the first time in this city. It was read in a private parlor by one person, without a hearer save God. However, the seed was sown, and from that day to this, Christian Science has never been without a witness in our midst; and until time shall be no more, will its gentle, loving ministry be with us, fulfilling the Scripture of Isaiah, 'to bind up the broken-hearted; to proclaim liberty to the captive, and the opening of prison to them that are bound. To give beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning and the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness."

"In 1898, a little group of 6 persons met in one of the homes represented and held the first united service in the history of this work. From time to time after this service, the few who were interested met at private residences, but no systematic work was done for many months. At a later period, a room in the Masonic Temple was rented. This was used during the week as a Christian Science Reading Room, and on Sundays regular services were conducted there. During the Summer months, owing to the fact that the majority of the attendants left the city, the work was discontinued.

"On July 13th, 1902, the Christian Scientist of the city met in a larger hall which had been rented in the Murchison Bank Building, and organized themselves as First Church of Christ, Scientist. On this date began our real church history. At the expiration of two years, because of increased attendance at the services and a growing demand for Christian Science healing, new quarters were obtained in the Odd Fellows' Building. Here a hall was fitted up for church services, adjoining which were a large reading room and three practtioners' offices. After remaining there two and a half years, we have invited you to be with us today, to witness our next forward step, the coming into our own church home, a house dedicated to the service of God, and used for no other purpose.

"This is the simple history of our church organization as it now stands before the community. It is the shell, so to speak, beneath which is concealed the kernel that contains the vitality,—for every heart knows that the real history of any church, the one of far deeper import, is that which depicts its inner life. How high have its aspirations reached? How close have its attainments followed? How faithful has it been in wearing the Christian's badge, 'By this shall all men know that we are disciples, if ye have love one to another?' How sincere has been its faith in the Master's promise 'He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also?' How frequent has been its practice of the Master's command 'Heal the sick; cleanse the leper; raise the dead; cast out devils?'

"It is not for us to say how far we have progressed along these lines—there is one unfailing test of the Christian life—'Ye shall know them by their fruits.' Our prayer is that our, as yet, imperfect fruits may grow more perfect, as we strive for the standard set by Jesus the Christ.

"In touching on the inner life of this church, I can not fail to speak of our gratitude to God for the book, the work, and the life of Mary Baker Eddy. Through them we have learned, as we never knew before, how to love God, to love our fellow man and to follow Christ. In a message to the First Church of Christ, Scientist of Boston, Mass., the Mother Church of this denomination she said: 'Follow me only as I follow Christ! Those who know the true history of that life can testify to its consecration—its purity—its love for God and man—yea, its Christ-likeness. The world has today no more faithful follower of Christ in word and work than Mary Baker Eddy; may I tell you without irreverence, that the city of Wilmington has no more loving friend than she. Years ago the most sacred strands of her life were interwoven closely with ours, and in her loving heart has never grown cold the memory of the love

HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

W. C. Norris in Jail Without Bond to Answer for Alleged Criminal Assault Upon Daughter of Former Deputy Sheriff.

W. C. Norris, a middle-aged white man said to be from Goldsboro and an engineer on one of the tram roads to a lumber mill in that vicinity, was arrested Sunday night by Policeman J. M. Lord, on the very serious charge of a criminal assault some days ago on the little 13-year-old daughter of former Deputy Sheriff George W. Millis, of this city. It appears that after the alleged offence Norris left the city and was not seen again until Sunday night. The warrant was sworn out by Mr. Millis as soon as he learned of the alleged assault, and upon Norris' return to the city, he was immediately locked up.

Yesterday the case was called in the police court, but being of such an important nature the Mayor at once turned the defendant over to Justice Furlong for trial in order that the charge may be fully investigated. Justice Furlong committed the defendant to the county jail without bond, pending an investigation of the charge at a preliminary trial today at noon. The child, Mr. Millis, Dr. M. H. Caldwell and a number of other witnesses have been summoned for the State, and the charge with which the man is confronted is a very grave one, indeed.

Nothing is known of Norris here, and particulars of the alleged offence are wanting. The trial is expected to excite considerable interest, as Mr. Millis is well known, and if the charge he prefers is sustained, will be a capital offence for the higher court.

CLUBBED INTO TRUCE

Railroad File Remarkable Allegations in Petition Before Circuit Judge Pritchard.

AGREEMENT ASSENTED TO

Court Submits Its Views on Termination of Celebrated Railway Rate Fight in This State—Appeal of Wake Cases.

(By Associated Press.)

Asheville, N. C., July 29.—A parting shot at the State authorities in the railroad rate controversy was fired through petitions which the Southern Railway and the Atlantic Coast Line filed before Judge Pritchard, today, asking that his interlocutory injunction be modified in accordance with the "peace" agreement reached Saturday at Raleigh between Governor Glenn and the railroads. Both the roads filed petitions very similar in tenor which explained a conference here today between attorneys representing the two roads. The petition of the Southern Railway recites the entire history of the railroad cases, and includes a protest against what the roads regard as their ill treatment, this protest and recital of facts being designated for perusal of the Supreme Court of the United States, as well as for the public.

The railroads declare, in effect, that they were clubbed into becoming a party to the agreement effected at Raligh; that the public mind has been inflamed by the newspapers and the utterances of politicians and the agreement was only assented to under duress, because of threats of an extra session of the Legislature for the purpose of adopting legislation hostile to the railroads.

The Southern Railway Company says the petitioner was confronted with a question as to whether its proper sense of duty to the peace and good order of the State, a proper consideration of its obligations to perform its duties as a common carrier in the States and inter-State business, and the subjecting of its employes to arrests and imprisonment would justify it in longer claiming its constitutional right to the protection of the interlocutory order authorzing it to continue, until the hearing of its existing rate of passenger charges or whether it was not best to cease the unequal conflict with the United powers of the State.

"The Southern Railway does not lose sight," continues the petition," of the momentus nature of the claim asserted by the State." If the claim of the State can be sustained, it is pointed out, it means that, through the agency of its criminal laws, a State can take the use of property (which is property) without compensation, for the time between the enactment of a statute by its General Assembly and the final determination of its constitutionality. If this claim of the State be upheld, the petitioner maintains, a State could fix the rate at one cent, and if the company were compelled to observe this low rate, notwithstanding the fourteenth amendment forbids it, the State has the power to take during the period mentioned the property of a company without compensation.

With reference to the "coercion and intimidation" employed to drive the railroad from the courts, to the extent mentioned, the petition calls attention to the activity of Governor Glenn against the roads. In fact, the petitioner says the Govèrnor directed the coercive measures.

The request to make changes indicated in the petition was granted by Judge Pritchard, who in making the revised order said:

"The applications now made to modify the injunctions henceforth granted in these causes present a condition of affairs unprecedented in the judicial annals of this country.

"After a full and complete hearing of the matters raised by the pleadings in these causes, injunctions, pending a hearing of the questions involved in the original suits, were granted. The court, in granting such injunctions, followed the course pursued by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Smith vs. Ames, Reagan vs. Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, Cotting vs. Kansas Stock Yards Company, and Prout vs. Starr and by the Circuit Courts of the United States in numerous other cases.

"The effect of the order restraining the Corporation Commission of North Carolina et al was to preserve the rights of the parties until the master to whom this cause had been referred could have opportunity to report the facts and thereby enable the court to correctly determine whether the act in question is confiscatory, and in order to protect the travelling public, the complainants were required to give ample bond and security to secure the payment into the registry of the court a sum sufficient to pay the difference between the present rate and the proposed rate to those who might in the meantime purchase tickets.

"The defendants could have appealed from my order granting a temporary injunction, but they failed to do so. Instead of appealing in these cases, they filed an answer, and the causes were then and, therefore, re-

STATES' RIGHTS PHASE.

All America seems to have been closely watching the fight between the North Carolina courts and the Federal courts in North Carolina over the act of the General Assembly of this State reducing railroad passenger fares from 3 1-4 to 2 1-4 cents per mile. The fight has been attracting close attention at Washington, and North Carolinians will be specially interested in this from the special correspondent of the New York American, under date of Washington, July 27:

"Official Washington, and particularly the officials of the Department of Justice, is watching with interest the developments of the battle fought by Governor Glenn of North Carolina and Governor Swanson of Virginia, against the Federal Courts. The interest taken is, of course, due to the realization that the controversy is not merely a State affair, but a national issue.

"The difficulties in these two States promise once for all to bring the question of the over-growing centralization of power of the Federal Government to an issue, and to test the power and desire of the Federal Government in regard to State's rights.

"The conflict in these two States, though more acute, is not much more than a repetition of the efforts of thirteen other States to force the adoption of the two cents a mile rate law. These States are: North Carolina, Virginia, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, Illinois, Mississippi, Nebraska, Pennsylvania Minnesota, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri.

"Each is vitally interested, not only in seeing that the law is upheld, but that its right to legislate in railroad and other State matters is inviolate. In most of these States the passage of the rate law has given rise to a wide discussion on the present policy of the Administration advocating centralization.

"This matter has ceased to be merely a fight between Governor Glenn and the Federal courts," said an official of the Department of Justice tonight, while discussiong the North Carolina situation. 'It is a national question which will requre the most delicate handling to be kept within safe bounds. It is a contest between State's rights and centralized government, between control by legislatures of the territory they represent and benchmade laws by judges of the Federal courts, representing merely the appointive power of the Federal Executive.

"If the administration were to follow out its frequently expressed policy of centralization and sustain Judge Pritchard in the usual way, by sending deputy marshals, it will mean subversion of what the State believes its rights. If, on the other hand, Governor Glenn continues to refuse to recognize Judge Pritchard's injunction, it is nothing short of a defiance of the authority of a Federal Court such as is unprecedented.

"The political aspect of the Carolina situation, and its relation to the National issue, is not lost on the President. From recent indications, he will be slow to take any step that will precipitate the issue and hurt him. Not only in the South and in the other States where rate legislation has been the same, public opinion appears to be that Judge Pritchard has acted too hastily in the North Carolina cases, and the enlistment of deputy marshals for the coercion of the State's officers would be generally regarded as centralization run wild.

"Although the officials who are willing to talk declare that the sending of deputy marshals, if demanded, would be either ignored or indirectly avoided, the President's determination in the matter will probably not be absolutely known until such a call is actually made.

"It is declared by some of the officials of the Department.of Justice that it has already been intimated to Judge Pritchard that he must not call out his own army of deputies to provoke further strife, through the fear that the Governor might not hesitate to call out the militia to enforce the State law.

"It was hoped for a time that Governor Glenn to please Judge Pritchard, the Departmet of Justice or some one higher up, might be persuaded to call the State law of North Carolina inoperative. The very fact that such a thing has been asked of the State shows that it was intended to humiliate the State and make new history for the Administration.

"It is generally acknowledged that the ultimate outcome of the centralization movement will be permanently influenced, if not decided, one way or the other by the result of the present difficulties in North Carolina and Virginia."

SENATOR PETTUS' SUCCESSOR IS CAROLINIAN.

The Hon. E. W. Pettus, the veneraUnited States Senator from Alabama, who died at Hot Springs, near Asheville, N. C., last Saturday, will be succeeded in the upper house of Congress by a native of North Carolina—the Hon. Joseph F. Johnston, former Governor of his adopted State of Alababma. Mr. Johnston made Alabama an exceptionally able executive and won great popularity in the State by reason of his unimpeachable character, splendid qualifications and acknowledged statesmanship.

In the Alabama Democratic primaries last year, two alternate Senators were nominated to succeed Senators Morgan and Pettus in the event that their seats should become vacant. The Hon. John H. Bankhead received the highest rate for alternate and was elected in the later Senator Morgan's stead.

Former Governor Johnston received the second highest rate for alternate Senator and will succeed Senator Pettus. On Wednesday of next week the Legislature will elect him for Senator Pettus' unexpired term and later he will be elected for the full term which expires March 4th, 1915. This will give the North Carolinan at least eight years in the Senate and doubtless he will stay there longer than that.

Mr. Johnston is a native of Lincoln county, N. C., and for some years prior to his removal to Alabama, he practiced law at Charlotte. He is a descendant of the late Governor Johnston, of North Carolina and comes of a distinguished family. His home is in Birmingham.

Senator Pettus ranked high in the Senate for his ability and Alabama did well to keep in that body till their death such men as Senators Morgan and Pettus. Both were Confederate generals, Senator Pettus having been a brigadier.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—The Governor has more power than the law-defying railroads thought. He is a bigger man than Pritchard and Finley and Andrews and Jim Pou all poured into one when standing for the people's rights.—Raleigh News and Observer.

—The present railroad litigation in North Carolina serves to illustrate that the State of North Carolina is true to its long standing reputation for fearlessness, independence and determination to enforce its own laws and to resist interference from without.—Columbia State.

—As the penalty for kidnapping for ransom has been increased from fifteen to twenty-five years under the law passed at the last regular session of the Legislature, and signed by the Governor, "Bad men" of every race who make that crime the business of life would do well to take notice. Most men deem a life sentence in prison worse than a speedy death. —Brooklyn Citizen.

—How come? Was it the expressed determination of Governor Glenn to call the Legislature together and have the midnight lease of the North Carolina Railroad Company to the Southern annulled for the latter's breach of one of its conditions, or the surmised refusal of President Roosevelt to back Judge Pritchard with troops the real cause of the Southern Railway assumes all at once a recumbent position?—Raleigh News and Observer.

—If State rights are going to figure in the next Democratic campaign, Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, must evidently be considered for the nomination, rather than Governor Johnson, of Minnesota. Both States have lately been put under Federal government by injunction, but the reception given it in North Carolina differs widely from that tendered in Minnesota. Yet the popular feeling of resentment seems to be about as strong in the Northern as in the Southern State.—Springfield Republican.

—Says our resplendent contemporary, The New York Sun: "The rights and immunities and prerogatives of the North Carolina Courts are perfectly safe in the hands of the Federal judiciary." But so they are in the hands of the North Carolina judiciary; and there are "rights, immunities and prerogatives" of State Courts which the Federal judiciary has no business to interfere with. The powers of a Federal Circuit Judge are not yet quite equivalent to those of a British Resident at the court of a mediatized Indian Rajah.—Philadelphia Press (Rep.)

GOOD TABLE MANNERS

Art In Which the English Claim to Be Supreme.

SNEER AT OTHER NATIONS.

Germany, France and America, Say the Britons, Cannot Compare With Them In Good Form at Meals—Use of the Knife, Fork, Spoon and Napkin.

Let it be admitted that our army is a failure, has never won a victory and never will; admitted that our navy would have difficulty in sweeping six combined great powers off the sea; admitted that we cannot act up to the French standard or trade up to the German or hustle up to the American or cheat up to the Greek. But we cherish our little pride and prejudice. The Englishman regards himself and is generally regarded as the best dressed man in the world. He also plumes himself on having the best table manners. To the Frenchman may be conceded the supremacy in the preparation of food, while the production of it owing to the decay of our agriculture may be left to such outlying places as Siberia and Chicago.

But when it comes to the eating of food the Englishman asserts his supremacy, for if the highest art be to conceal art the highest etiquette of eating should be the triumphant pretense that one is not eating at all. And here the Englishman wins. He can eat his way through a seven course meal quite unobtrusively. It was not always so.

Lord Chesterfield, as I have been reminded by Mr. Philip Wellby's edition of the "Advice to His Son," sketches the awkward man who "holds his knife, fork and spoon differently from other people, eats with his knife to the great danger of his mouth, picks his teeth with his fork and puts his spoon, which has been in his throat twenty times, into the dishes again. If he is to carve, he never hits the joint, but in his vain efforts to cut through the bone scatters the sauce in everybody's face. He generally daubs himself with soup and grease, though his napkin is commonly stuck through a buttonhole."

That napkin is a test of table manners, and the nice conduct of the napkin caught the attention recently of the German emperor, who saw one of his guests tucking the napkin under a chin. "Do you want to be shaved?" was the imperial question. England's supremacy—in the matter of soup—lies in the spoon. An Englishman is taught to take soup from the side of the spoon. And he is the only man on earth who emerges from soup with the white shirt front of a blameless dinner and without the aid of a tucked napkin. He lays the napkin across his knees and uses it when necessary without ostentation.

That discreet conduct of the knife is the Englishman's pride and prejudice at table. There is no nation which (in its upper middle classes) reaches the English standard of the nice conduct of the knife, though we are assured that in the highest circles—among ameers, shahs, sultans, dukes and millionaires—there is a beautiful uniformity of deportment. Our insular instinct is to make the knife as inconspicuous as possible, for there is some suggestion of brutality in the slicing of bits of corpses that are doomed to keep our vile bodies alive.

No such feeling restrains the German eater, and the French diner is scarcely less sensitive. The German who feeds in the average restaurant will shovel his food into his mouth with the blade of his knife and when in a difficulty will cram it down with the handle, nor has he the least scruple about depositing the rejected residue upon the floor. Moreover, with the continental eater the knife enters into conversation. It is retained in the gesticulating hand, it is raised imploringly to the ceiling, and—heaven!—it is brought into strange circles of argument. It is used to point the conclusion at the very breast of the fellow diner.

When you see a man waving his knife at table, you may be sure he is an alien. "We wear no swords here," as Sir Lucius O'Trigger says, nor do we argue with knives at table.

The English knife, with all its bloodthirsty suggestions, is reduced to the lowest and least obtrusive office. It is not even dug into the saltcellar, for England has reached the delicacy of salt spoons, and only in a Soho restaurant will she give you the real savor of the continent by providing saltcellars without spoons. You shove your knife into the salt and dream of Paris Bohemia, the gypsy life in which "you dip your fingers in the pot."

England has suppressed the knife at table. The Englishman does not use it for argument or menace or persuasion or even for the taking of salt. His table manners enjoin that the knife shall never be raised. The properly conducted knife at table never reaches forty-five degrees above the horizontal.

Unfortunately the American goes a little too far in the desire to avoid the obtrusive use of the knife and takes refuge in obtrusive concealment. Many Americans will slice their meat with the knife, lay the knife by the side of the plate and put the pieces into the mouth with the fork held in the right hand. Now, this is injustice to the knife, which has its modest function.—London Chronicle.

He Went.

Boreleigh (at 11:45)—Ah, Miss Critic, you have such a sweet, retiring disposition.

Miss Critic (yawning)—You flatter me, Mr. Boreleigh, but I must confess to a slight disposition to retire.—Puck.

which was shown her here and elsewhere in the South. In a recent letter to our church, afterwards published in the Christian Science Sentinel, of September the 22nd, 1906, she said:

"'Long ago you of the dear South paved the way to my forever gratitude and now illustrate the past, by your present love. God grant that such goodness, pointing the path to heaven within you, hallow your Palmetto home with palms of victory and songs of glory.'

"Friends, there are in the world those who are sick; those who are sorrowful; those who are wearing the heavy chains of sin and despair. There is not a member of this church who has not been healed in some measure of all these conditions, and we long with all our hearts to help those other suffering ones who are still seeking that which we have sought and found.

"We believe in you; we believe in the desire of every Christian minister of every Christian Church in this city, to do good; and we believe that you will wish us God-speed in our work.

"We dedicate to God, the Church which we have erected as a tribute of love and gratitude to our Leader and teacher, the Reverend Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science and author of its text book, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures. We pray that our Church and our lives may be consecrated to the service of God, our brother, our city and our State.

"May the God who is infinite Life, Truth and Love be with us and with you."

TRACK LAYING BEGUN.

Spur of Consolidated Line Being Extended to County Rock Quarry.

A force of convicts yesterday morning commenced work on laying a spur of the Consolidated track from Seventeenth and Princess streets to the county rock quarry on the Rhodes' place, in East Wilmnigton. The spur extends due east from the junction to the National Cemetery reservation, thence around with that to the Market street road, and out to the quarry. The Consolidated Company will handle the rock for the county to any part of the district covered by its main lines. A force of hands also yesterday begun work opening up the new quarry, removing the over-burden, etc., so that material will be available in a few days.

Commissioners McEachern, Robertson and Divine yesterday went out to the quarry and formally received from the contractors, Silvia & Camanche, the new quarters for the prisoners, the award of which was recently made. The quarters are very substantially and conveniently arranged and are perhaps the most up-to-date of any county in the State. The buildings are now complete and will be occupied by the convicts at once. Messrs. Leitner & Wilkins were the architects for the buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Haddock Bereaved.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Haddock will sympathise with them in the death of their infant son which occurred Sunday morning at the family residence on Castle street. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the residence and the remains were laid to rest in Bellevue cemetery. The services were by Rev. Kenmeth D. Holmes, pastor of Fifth Street M. E. Church.

ferred to a master in order that the evidence might be taken. It is unjust to say that the question of State's rights is involved in this controversy. It is equally unjust to insist that what the court has done in the premises was an interference on the part of the Federal court with the State courts. However, on the other hand, there has been a manifest disposition on the part of State officials to interfere with the Federal court in its procedure to do equal justice between the complainants and the defendants and in the exercise of those powers necessarily incident to the protection of its jurisdiction.

"If this kind of obstruction should prevail and citizens are thus to be denied the rights guaranteed them by the constitution of the United States, then these provisions of the constitution would become a dead letter, as there would be no means of enforcing them."

"I feel no doubt as to the soundness of these views, nor as to the jurisdiction of this court, nor its right and duty to enter the interlocutory decree, nor in order to protect the jurisdiction of this court to discharge on habeas corpus the persons who had been arrested by the State authorities for compliance with the orders of this court

"As the defendant failed to appeal from the order of this court awarding the said interlocutory injunctions, nothing remained except for this court to pursue the orderly consideration of the cases and meanwhile the protect its jurisdiction and its processes when action on its part was lawfully invoked. The court still considers that it would be its duty to continue this protection when its action in the premises should be thus lawfully invoked.

"But as the complainants for the protection of whose rights the interlocutory decrees were entered, now move the court permission to surrender the protection of said order, to the extent indicated in their respective petitions, there is nothing for the court to do except to grant the permission prayed."

Asheville, N. C., July 29.—In the State Superior Court today Judge Guion informed the grand jury that he had been advised that Governor Glenn and the railroads had reached an agreement at a conference at Raleigh on Saturday last, but that if the railroads failed in any respect to live up to the provisions of this agreement he would call the jury back for further instructions.

Raleigh, N. C., July 29.—In conformity with the agreement to prosecute its appeal from the $30,000 fine imposed in the Superior Court of Wake county to the Supreme Court of the State, the Southern Railway on Saturday night gave a formal notice of appeal and filed a bond in the sum of $60,000.

WHITE MAN HEAVILY FINED.

Disorderly on Carolina Beach Excursion Brought Two to Grief.

A fine of $25 and costs was yesterday imposed by Justice John J. Furlong on J. E. Hopkins, a young white man employed as a lineman by the Southern Telephone Company, the charge being an unprovoked assault upon W. V. Burriss, another white man on an excursion to Carolina Beach Sunday. He with R. C. Freeman, another lineman and a companion on the excursion, were also held under bonds of $25 each for their appearance in the Superior Court to answer charge of disturbing an excursion by using loud and profane language in the hearing of ladies. In default of the payment of the fine on Hopkins' part and the bond of $25 in each of the other two cases the two young men were committed to jail.

From the evidence submitted at the trial, it appears that the two young men, comparatively strangers in the city, boarded a car of the train for the trip over to the steamer pier Sunday night and were using vile and profane language. Young Mr. Burriss spoke to them about such language being used in presence of ladies when Hopkins struck him several blows in the face. He was immediately arrested and a charge of disturbing an excursion preferred against him and Freeman, his companion.

Placed Under Peace Warrant.

C. C. Moore, a young white man employed in the city, was arrested yesterday upon his release from the police court where he was charged with drunkenness, upon an additional warrant from Justice Furlong's court. The latter warrant was sworn out by the young man's mother-in-law and it was for the purpose of having his bond to keep the peace. After hearing the evidence, Justice Furlong required of the young man a bond of $100 which was given with Mr. L. O. Smith as surety.

AN ADDRESS BY MRS. MIMS.

Large Audience Charmed With Lecture in Spite of Rain.

Mrs. Sue Harper Mims, C. S. D., wife of the gifted Major Livingston Mims at one time mayor of Atlanta, delighted a large audience last night in the handsome new church edifice of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Seventeenth and Market streets. Carolina Place. Mrs. Mims was heard in a particularly strong lecture on Christian Science and its teachings and in spite of the very heavy downpour of rain and the threatening clouds, her audience well filled the pretty new auditorium. Mr. A. C. Sneed presided at the meeting and very gracefully introduced the distinguished visitor.

Mrs. Mims has a charming presence on the platform and an easy and delightful flow of language. She presented her subject in the strongest possible light and in a convincing and very happy manner. Any attempt at a synopsis of her remarks here would do the speaker an injustice. Later it is proposed to publish the excellent address in full. She held her audience from first to last and many not members of the great denomination of which she is such an able exponent took occasion after the lecture to speak to her of the pleasure with which they heard her.

REMOVING TO FLORENCE.

Division Headquarters of Atlantic Coast Line Transferred.

Already the transfer of the First Division headquarters of the Atlantic Coast Line from this city to Florence, S. C., has begun. The office of Mr. C. M. James, engineer of roadway, and his four clerks will be removed to Florence on the early morning train today and Mr. Anderson's office will be transferred to the South Carolina city on Thursday of this week. The two offices for the present will be located in a cottage on the property recently acquired by the Coast Line at Florence for the new union station which will include offices for the division headquarters when it is completed. It is expected that Mr. Newell will remove his office to Rocky Mount tomorrow.

All told these changes, which are in effect August 1st, will take about a dozen families from Wilmington, which the city regrets exceedingly to lose. The office furniture and records of the engineer of roadway were loaded yesterday into a baggage coach, which will be taken down to Florence this morning.

Colored Ball Teams at Hilton.

"The Greenleaf Baseball Team of the Prodigal Sons" and "Big Bud's Black Stockings," well known colored teams of this city, played a game at Hilton Park yesterday afternoon in which the latter nine won by a score of 9 to 2. Pat Wells and Arthur Pollock composed the battery for the "Prodigal Sons" and Willie MacKellar and Machen for the "Black Stockings." The attendance was good and the game a hot number.

Consolidated Company Sues.

Messrs. Davis & Davis, attorneys, yesterday instituted a suit for the Consolidated Company against the Fidelity and Casualty Company, of Baltimore. The complaint has not been filed, but it is understood that the issues involve some differences between the two companies with reference to the insuranc of employes carried by the latter company for the Consolidated Company.

Their Infant Dead.

The little infant of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Aman passed away Sunday at the family residence in this city Sunday. The funeral was conducted from the home by Rev. Fred D. Hale, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, yesterday afternoon.

CARRIE NATION IN RALEIGH.

Saloon Smasher Denounces Dispensary Manager—Encampment Oredr.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 29.—Big crowds followed Carrie Nation to the Raleigh Dispensary this afternoon. She started from the Yarboro, stopped in Miller & Lewis' pool rooms, denouncing them as hell holes and breeders of idlers and worthless men. Indecent pictures as she termed them, on the walls she scathingly denounced. At the dispensary the manager was abused roundly, Mrs. Nation declaring she would be ashamed to be manager of such a vile place, even though established by the "so-called Christian people." She spoke fifteen minutes against whiskey and tobacco and appealed for prohibition.

Heavy rain prevented a talk she was to have made at Pullen Park at 4 o'clock this afternoon. However, she was on hand there tonight and gave a characteristic harangue.

Adjutant General Robertson issues a special order preparatory for the selection of a team to represent State at the National shoot at Camp Perry, O. The commanding officers of the Second and Third regiments will each detail one man from the respective companies to engage in target practice with the First Infantry on the State range at Camp Glenn, Morehead City, for five days, commencing August 9th, and go from there to the Jamestown Exposition at the encampment, August 13th for three days.

"The Traitor" Now on Sale.

Admirers of Rev. Tom Dixon and of his writings will be interested to know that copies of his latest novel, "The Traitor," are now on sale in Wilmington at Yates'. "The Traitor" is a thrilling story of love, adventure, treason and the United States Secret Service, dealing with the decline and fall of the Invisible Empire or Ku Klux Klan. The book is illustrated by Martin and is published by Doubleday Page & Co. The price is $1.50 and as only a limited number are on sale here for the present, orders should be placed early.

Sheriff After Them.

Many complaints have reached Sheriff Cowan and the County Commissioners that there is much promiscuous shooting by cart drivers returning at night from the markets in the city, along the Market street road especially. Sheriff Cowan says that the shooting has become so frequent that he feels called upon to swear in a number of deputies, which he has done, and that they will be on the lookout in the future for disorder of this kind

Five Minute Schedule on Cars.

It is announced that the five minute schedule on the street cars of the city on Front street and on Princess street, along which the double track extends will be put on tomorrow morning. There will be some curtailment of the transfer privilege, it is said, but the company hopes to more than make this up in the better service. Thus far the double track seems to have delayed rather than quickened the schedule and the improvement will come none too soon.

Coming to Tournament.

A correspondent writing from High Point says: "The Southside Fire Department has one of the prettiest racing wagons in the State. It is rubber-tired, ball bearing and painted white, and is a beauty in every sense of the word. The firemen from here will attend the tournament in Wilmington next month and are going to try and bring back some of the prizes, although this is the first year for them to enter."

The Remains of a River.

In the valley between the Pecos and the Rio Grande, beginning near Sandia mountain, is the bed of an old river with all its tributaries, its falls, its shallows and its bends. It is 300 miles long and many feet wide, but it is only the ghost of a river, for there is no water there. It passes by the ruins of Gran Quivira, its bed is strewn with broken lava, and it terminates in a salt marsh. The Indians have a legend that long ago the waters were deep and swift there until one day a great fire swept down the valley, lapping up the waters, leaving the bed empty, the banks barren and the valley desolate forevermore.

Sweet Idleness In Samoa.

In a letter from Samoa to the Chicago Daily News R. C. Givens says that the natives toil little and spin only when their clothes are worn out, for the wonderful trees produce all the food they require. Breadfruit, cocoanuts, pineapples and numerous berries, together with an unlimited supply of good fish, make it possible for them to exist without much labor. They trouble themselves very little about politics, and thus America's new found red skinned citizens dream ther lazy lives away under the shades of the old palms without the slightest worry about frenzied finance.

Largest Admiral's Flag.

To Admiral Sir A. K. Wilson, the new admiral of the fleet, belongs the distinction of having flown the largest admiral's flag used in a modern warship. The flag measures twenty-two feet two inches by fifteen feet. It was made by the yeoman of signals on board the Exmouth, and it was hoisted in place of the more commonly used paying off pennant.—London Graphic.

Still Worried.

"It used to worry me when the barber informed me that my hair was getting a little thin on top."

"But you got used to it, eh?"

"No. Now it worries me because he doesn't mention it. I must be getting old."—Philadelphia Press.

There is nothing so powerful as truth and often nothing so strange.—Webster.

How the Timber Goes.

An idea of the rapidity with which the timber is disappearing from some sections of Pennsylvania can be obtained from the following figures, which refer to the timber cutting on the Hicks run tract in Clearfield county: Original size of tract, 9,000 acres; timber cut the first two years, 3,000 acres; still standing, 6,000 acres; amount of timber cut, 50,000,000 feet; amount standing, 200,000,000 feet; daily capacity of sawmill, 200,000 feet; daily shipments, fifteen carloads; amount of timber in Hicks run yard, 6,000,000 feet; time of operation, two years; estimated time to cut standing timber, four years; number of men employed, 800 to 1,000.

Prophetic.

Achilleion, the beautiful palace built for the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria at Corfu, at a cost of $5,000,000, has been purchased by a Swiss-German syndicate, which will convert it into a hotel and sanitarium. The palace, which is of pure white marble, was designed by the Italian architect S. Carito. It contains 128 rooms and a chapel, situated in fine grounds planted with 25,000 rare rose trees. In 1896, when the empress left her palace for the last time, it is said that she burst into tears and said to one of the ladies of her suit, "Something in my heart tells me that I shall never return here again." She was murdered at Geneva soon after.

India Rubber Bait.

According to a Troy fisherman, the latest triumph of Yankee genius is an india rubber fish worm. It is said to be a remarkably good imitation of the common earth worm, is indestructible and in actual use proves as alluring to the fishes as the genuine article. The old fisherman will be quick to see its advantages. One can equip himself for a day's sport without digging over a whole garden in search for bait. A handful of india rubber worms will last him a whole season, and there will be no necessity for pulling up the line every few minutes to see if the small fry nibblers have left the hook bare.—St. Louis Republic.

He informed her father who whipped her about it. Soon after this fire was discovered in Mr. Wilkins' house but it was extinguished before much harm was done. Later she told Mr. Wilkins' children she was going to burn their house. On June 25th while the family was away from home the house and kitchen were burned. Nothing was saved except the stove and a table with a few plates. Last week Corinna was before Squire John McLeod, charged with burning the house. The evidence was such that she was sent to jail, but later gave bond to appear at court.

Long Live The King.

is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America, the cry of the present day is "Long live Dr. King's New Discovery, King of Throat and Lung remedies!" of which Mrs. Julia Ryder Paine, Truro, Mass., says: "It never fails to give immediate relief and to quckly cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Paine's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this country New Discovery cures weak lungs and sore throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds it's the only sure cure. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, Druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, July 29.—The cotton market was nervous and irregular during today's trading with the close barely steady at a net decline of 25 points on July, a net advance of 13 points on August and 1 to 4 points net higher on later months. Sales for the day were estimated at 350,000 bales. The opening was barely steady at a net advance of 3 points to a decline of 4 points, the advance being on August, which was influenced by covering and the absence of notices, while the new crop was lower under reports of showery weather in eastern and central sections of the belt. The fact that no August notices of consequence were out seemed to create a favorable impression on the bull side of the market, and with brokers believed to be representing the bear leaders buyers of Winter months, prices advanced after the opening, ruling quite firm during the middle session on the detailed weather reports showing continued dry, hot weather in Texas. After selling at 11:60 for August, or 25 points higher and at a gain of 14 to 18 points on the active new crop months, however, the market yielded to realizing by early buyers and a renewal of bear pressure encouraged by private wires reporting rains in the neighborhood of Waco, Fort Worth and Dallas. Trading in July will be over at noon on Wednesday, and there was very little business in that position during today's trading. Just before the close it sold at 11:55, closing at that price. Some further deliveries are expected on July tomorrow or next day.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today, 1,884 bales, against 1,550 last week, and 6,391 last year. For the week, 10,000 bales, against 10,361 last week, and 29,523 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 291 bales, against 640 last year.

Spot cotton, dull; middling uplands, 12.90; middling Gulf, 13.15; sales, 6,700 bales.

HAYWOOD FREED BOND FOR MOYER

End of First of Sensational Cases Involving Assassination of Gov. Steunenberg.

ACQUITTAL CAME SUNDAY

Pettibone Trial to Begin on October 1st—Third of Defendants Will Get Liberty in Unique Manner From Federation.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Boise, Idaho, July 29.—On Sunday morning at 8 o'clock the jury rendered a verdict of acquittal in the case against Wiliam D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, who has been on trial for many weeks on the charge of conspiring to murder Governor Steunenburg, who was assasinated by Harry Orchard, who implicated Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone as his accomplices. Haywood manifested great joy and thanked each of the jurors, inviting them to visit him at his home in Denver.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners and co-defendant with William D. Haywood, acquitted yesterday of the murder of former Governor Steuneberg, was ordered released on $25,000 bail today by Judge Wood, who presided at the Haywood trial. The attorneys for the Federation expected to have the bond ready for filing tonight, but the arrangements had not been wholly completed at a late hour, and Moyer resigned himself to another night in jail. He probably will be released tomorrow and will leave within 24 hours for his home in Denver.

No application for bail was made in the case of George A. Pettibone, but a motion was made for a speedy trial and his case was ordered set down for Tuesday, October 1. Counsel intimated today that they might apply for bond for Pettibone later, but it is not believed that the State's attorneys will consent. It has been generally claimed that the State has more incriminating evidence against Pettibone than any of the others, while it has been generally conceded that the case against Moyer is the weakest of the three.

Haywood today continued to receive congratulatory telegrams from all sections of the country. Aside from the personal congratulations of the senders, the messages have nearly all expressed the sentiment that "labor has triumphed over the oppressive measures of capital."

Haywood spent the day at the cottage occupied by his family and received many callers. He expects to leave for Denver on Thursday.

Judge Wood said he would personally approve Moyer's bond and make it continuing so that he could remain at his home in Colorado until wanted. As to Pettibone, Darrow urged that the earliest possible date be fixed for his trial. October 1 was set as the date agreeable to all concerned.

Bond for Moyer is to be given in a unique way, suggested by Attorney Peter Breen, of Butte, Mont., who has been associated with the defense.

The Butte local of the Western Federation of Miners is the richest in the organization, and Mr. Breen said it carries a deposit of from $100,000 to $140,000 constantly in the abnk. Arrangements were made by wire today with Mr. Breen to have the Butte Union make $25,000 subject by the First National Bank of Boise. Some officer of the Boise bank will sign the bail bond as surety. A telegram to Mr. Breen tonight said the arrangements at Butte had been completed.

Discussion of the verdict in the Haywood case was widespread today, concensus of opinion being that the jury had done its duty as it saw it, and should not be criticised. Editorial comment of the local papers is to this effect.

EIGHTEEN DEAD IN TENEMENT FIRE

Conflagration Yesterday in Congested Italian Quarter of New York City.

EXPLOSION IN A STORE

First Thought That Bomb Started the Blaze—Shot Up Stairways Closing All Avenues of Escape—Beach Hotel Burned.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, July 29.—Eighteen persons are dead and at least fifteen are seriously injuried as the result of a fire early today in a tenament house on Christie street. All of the occupants of the house were Italians. There is no clue to the origin of the blaze. It was at first reported that the fire was probably caused by a bomb which exploded in the grocery store in the basement of the building, but the police after a careful investigation say there is no evidence to sustain this theory or to show that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Heavy financial loss also resulted from the destruction of the Long Beach Hotel today.

An explosion in the Italian grocery store on Christie street started the fire whicsh swept through the teeming tenament and destroyed the lives of nearly a score of people and injuried fifteen others. The noise of the explosion caused a panic in the densely populated district. The police say that many perished in the flames. A second explosion from a kerosene tank followed and the whole lower floor was a mass of flames from the blazing oil. The fire shot up the stairways, cutting off all escape from those in the bedrooms above. Many rushed to the fire escape which became clogged with frightened people. The house was filled with dense smoke and the flames rushed up stairs drove the half crazed people toward the roof. The flames killed many as they were about to be rescued from the roof while others were overcome by smoke. There were many heroic rescues by the firmen. The bodies of the dead were found in all manner of places.

Four women were discovered dead in a closet where they had rushed to hide from the flames which found them out.

Eight hundred guests of the Long Beach Hotel, one of the largest seashore hotels on the Atlantic coast, had to flee for their lives today when the hotel was burned to the sands. There was no loss of life and so far as can be learned no one was injuried. The guests lost almost all their clothing and personal effects. The fire was discovered on the first floor shortly after 5 o'clock. Hall boys and clerks hurried through the smokey corridors and roused the sleeping guests. The flames spread so rapidly in the great wooden structure that the guests had barely time to seize some scanty clothing and escape. They filed to the beach and were taken care of by the cottagers. The hotel burned like tinder and within a short time was a smouldering mass of ruins. It was three stories high and nearly 600 feet in length and when filled to its capacity 1,100 persons. The loss is about $200,000.

The frightened guests huddled together in groups along the beach watching the flames destroy the hotel. Sparks from the fire set ablaze the cottages of A. B. Chapman and three others and these too were destroyed. The hotel burned so rapidly that the employes had no time to save any of the furniture or contents.

The first bale of new crop Georgia cotton was sold at the New York Cotton Exchange today for 26 cents a pound.

Thomas Black the most prominent lawyer in Kenton, a leading Republican politician and mayor for two terms,, is in jail on a charge of forgery. He gave himself up to the sheriff and asked to be placed behind the bars. Black acknowledged the forgery of papers involving the sum of $28,000. His operations extend, he says, over a period of nine years.

Making It Worse.

Wife—I'm sorry I scolded you this morning, dear. It has affected my peace of mind all day.

Husband—Oh, then you have made the discovery at last, have you?

Wife—What discovery?

Husband—That you have only a piece of mind.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Not Her Game.

"Low bridge!" sang out the guide taking the party over the vessel.

The society matron held her head still higher, with appreciation of he. consequence.

Then We'd Hear Something.

"It's in the world of politics," said the talkative man, "that the truth of the old saying 'money talks' is most frequently proved."

"Yes," replied the wise citizen, "but if hush money would only talk, what sensations we would have!"—Detroit Free Press.

Mary's Proposals.

"Did Miss Flyppe receive many proposals while at Blackpool?"

"Many! Why, receiving proposals has got to be a habit with her. She has got so used to them that she can't hear a soda water bottle pop without exclaiming, 'This is so sudden!'"—Tatler.

FORAKER CAN'T SWALLOW TAFT

Impossible Under Present Conditions to Favor Secretary For President.

TAFT IS NOT ONLY PEBBLE

Foraker Too Modest to Declare His Own Candidacy—Leaves It to Republicans to Say Whether He is Big Enough.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Cincinati, July 29.—That it is impossible for him under present conditions favor the Presidential candiacy of Secretary of War W. H. Taft is the statement of United States Senator Foraker in a letter given out here today.

The letter is addressed to C. B. McCoy, of Coshocton, a member of the Republican State committee, and is intended as the expression of the Senator's views when the committee meets at Columbia tomorrow. The interview of Governor Harris in which he favors the endorsement of Foraker for Senator and Taft for President and various recent publications are taken as the text for the letter. Senator Foraker says:

"It is claimed that Secretary Taft is the only candidate for the Presidenacy and that on such account from sentiments of State pride, we should unite in his support. I see it stated as a reason for the claim that Ohio has only one candidate for the Presidency, and that I have not at any time announced my candidacy for that office. It is true that I have never made any such announcement. The responsibilities of the office are so grave and so serious that any man might well feel highly complimented and greatly honored to have his fellow citizens' name him in such a connection, but any ordinary man might well hesitate to proclam himself qualified for such responsibilities, preferring at least to wait until invited by his party associates to undertake such duties.

"It is because I entertain opinions of this kind that I have not made any anouncement of my candidacy for any office and I do not deem it necessary that I should. Today there is a wide difference among Republicans on a question of the most vital character.

After discussion at length the present prosperity of the country and Secretary Taft's attitude in favor of a revision of the tariff, Senator Foraker said:

"If we can be given time to discuss this subject, I may change my views about it, but without further advices it is impossible for me, notwithstanding the good character and great ablity and the distingushed services of Secretary Taft, to favor his candidacy."

Had to Take the Trip.

A Philadelphia dentist was not long ago in receipt of an extraordinary order from a man in Altoona desirous of providing himself with a set of teeth to replace those lost by reason of a kick from a mule.

"My mouth," wrote the Altoona man to the dentist, "is three and a quarter inches across and five-eighths inches through the jaw. It is shaped like a horseshoe, toe forward. If you want any more particulars, I'll have to come to Philadelphia."—New York Times.

An Aristocratic Young Person.

"Mabel is a perfect aristocrat when it comes to pride."

"How so?"

"Why, she wouldn't engage herself to young Winkler until she had asked him how he got all his money, and when he told her that he got it from his father she said that was all right—she was afraid he might have earned some of it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Ecru and silver, with a line of dark blue running through it, is one of the new wool voile designs.

The question of the neck ruff has been until recently a debatable one, but now it is certain that they will be even more in fashion than they were last year.

The fashionable colors for gloves are tan, champagne, gray, all the leather shades. Black and white are never really "out," so they will be worn, but are not de rigueur even for evening, for which the palest of champagn tints is reserved.

Jabots are strong features of the neckwear styles and come in many attractive forms, the prevailing length being about five inches. Some of these are slashed up the center with a contrasting material inserted, others are pointed in the center, and still others are fan shaped.—New York Post.

GERMAN GLEANINGS.

A proof of Germany's rapidly increasing wealth is that, while in 1892 only 2,440,000 paid income tax, last year 4,390,000 paid the tax.

When the project for the consolidation of the suburbs of the city of a Greater Berlin has been carried out, the Prussian and German capital will be the second largest city in Europe and the third largest in the world.

It is usually supposed that Belgium, with her 589 persons to the square mile, is the most crowded country in Europe. But this is not the case. The Hanse towns district of Germany boasts the amazing population of 3,327 persons to the square mile.
